THE POSITION.
The letter of General Scott of March 3, 1861, will be read with great attention. Mr. Van Buren, who produced it before the New York Democratic meeting of Monday night, said he did so without authority. That is a matter of no consequence to the public, who are merely interested to know that such a letter was written. Through what channels it may have leaked out, is important only to individuals.

The letter shows what might have been inferred from Gen. Scott's nativity, political associations, and general turn of opinions, that he preferred acquiescence in separation, to a war against the rebellious South; and it is not doubtful that this view modified, consciously, or unconsciously, his management of the war, so long as it remained in his hands.

We have never been of those inclined to vilify him as necessarily unpatriotic, the views expressed in this letter of Gen. Scott, unwise and fallacious as we certainly deem them to be. But the policy of a forcible repression of the rebellion having been actually resolved upon, his execution should have been entrusted only to those in hearty sympathy with it.

As will be seen, Gen. Scott believed that nothing could be attempted militarily against the rebellion, except with "disciplined" troops. This belief was shared by most of the regular army officers, and largely controlled the tactics of the early part of the war, although discarded from by Lyons, in Missouri, and a few others. General Lyons saw and insisted that it was a question between promptly availing ourselves of our numerical superiority by precipitating undisciplined levies upon an equally undisciplined enemy, or of devoting to drill a period of delay, of which the enemy could make precisely the same use.

Hon. A. K. McCure, of Chambersburg, has written an interesting letter, describing his interviews with the officers of the rebel force which visited that place. He says: "When told that I was a decided Republican, they looked at me for some candid; but when in reply to their inquiries, I told them that I cordially sustained the President's emancipation proclamation, they betrayed a little uneasiness, but did not for a moment forget their propriety. They admitted it to be the most serious danger that has yet threatened them, but they were all hopeful that it would not be sustained in the North with sufficient unanimity to enforce it."

GEN. GRANT'S VICTORY AT CORINTH.
The fuller accounts of the battle of Corinth, from both rebel and Union sources of information, are now being received in immense quantities. It has dealt a staggering, if not a fatal blow to rebellion in the Mississippi Valley, and has at any rate relieved the loyal Northwest from the possibility of a disgraceful invasion. And important as it is in a strictly military view, it is, perhaps, even more important in its moral effects, by demonstrating the prowess of Northern troops, when properly handled, and by showing that there is at least one general in the Union army who is more than a match for the vaunted military skill and generalship of the South.

The first impressions made upon the country by the brilliant victories achieved last winter by Gen. Grant, did not extend beyond establishing his reputation as a fighting general. So much, malignity itself could not deny to him, but it certainly was contrived, in various ways and by various arts, to deprive him of any higher mood of pride. The rebels themselves appear to have adopted this view of Gen. Grant, or they would not have ventured upon the experiment which has proved so fatal to their plans of an aggressive movement against the Northwest. Even the masterly combinations by which Gen. Price was routed at Iuka did not induce them, so deep was the impression produced by the calamities against Gen. Grant, circulated by a portion of the press in the loyal States.

The sudden massing of the Union troops at Iuka, and the remorseless pursuit of the routed enemy after the battle of Corinth, now known to have been pre-arranged in the minutest details by Gen. Grant in anticipation of that victory, remind us of the Napoleonic campaigns, and demonstrate that Gen. Grant has the elements of a great commander, as well as the dash and qualities of the hero of the battle-field.

We confess to have been unprepared for the generalship displayed in these recent achievements of Gen. Grant, not that we credited for a moment the infamous calumnies referred to, but because the instances in which the qualities of great generalship are combined in the same individual, are so rare and so widely distributed, that we did not expect to witness them so early in our civil conflict.

Whether generals are born such, like poets, or made such, like orators, they are only shown and known to be such by the unerring trial of campaigning. And most unwise is that government, or that people, who will not accept the results of that test.

Correspondence of the Republican.
New York, Oct. 16, 1862.
Last evening, the Seymourites held their big meeting at Cooper Institute, and from the papers to day, I learn that it was large, as all political meetings are, in New York.

How effective it will be in behalf of the sham democracy, it remains to be seen. The Herald, that always sniffs the breeze from afar, and remembers to forget all of its past professions of attachment to its friends, that it may the more readily worship the rising sun, has, for the last few days, advised Seymour to decline to run for Governor of this great State, assuring him that he will be defeated.

This is asking of Seymour whom it encouraged till it saw no chance for him; but it is all in keeping with the Herald's course. I have glanced through Mr. Seymour's speech as found in the papers this morning, and find it tame and uninteresting. It is of the Mawworm style. Mr. Seymour, pitifully complains of the abuse that he is forced to endure at the hands of his opponents, the Wadsworth men, and endeavors to create the impression, as Daniel O'Connell would say, or did say of himself, that he was the best abused man in the United Kingdom. Mr. Seymour endeavors to come this dodge, and whines about his treatment like a whipped school-boy. It won't rattle him from overwhelming defeat, however.

It is gratifying to know that, so far as there has been any feud in this State, or what might more properly be called a general rivalry for different candidates, that now all is harmony among leaders and people, and that Republican and Union Democrat will poll a mighty vote, and bury Seymourism so deep that it will never have a resurrection.

Business appears to be brisk and good as ever in New York; the hotels crowded, the places of amusements nightly thronged, as it said, and all moves on just as though we were at peace with all the world, and had not, as a nation, the most gigantic civil war on our hands the world ever saw.

Our is truly a wonderful people, and all things considered, may well astonish the world by its perseverance and elasticity. The Star of last evening publishes the following dispatch:
HARRISBURG, Oct. 16.—It is now probable that the Democrats have succeeded in electing a majority of the members of Congress and of the lower House of the Legislature; and the indications are that they have also carried their State ticket. There is little doubt of Grover's defeat by Deming.

The Star has also the following:
Just as we go to press, private dispatches have been received from the city stating that Colfax, Julian, Dumont, and Dunn, (Rep.), have probably been defeated for Congress in Indiana; and that in that State the delegation will stand eight Democrats to three Republicans in the present Congress is eight Republicans to three Democrats.

The Star is, of course, jubilant over these rumored results, and announces its gratification in the following style:
THE EFFECT ON GOLD.—The price of gold fell five per cent. to-day, owing to the result of the elections in Pennsylvania, Iowa, Ohio and Indiana, showing in the defeat of the radicals, who have made themselves so mischievous in the eyes of the Administration, and in the successful prosecution of the war.

The fall in gold yesterday, was really owing to further loss upon the market of the Baltimore American of last evening contains nothing confirmatory of the Star's Ohio and Indiana victories in either Pennsylvania, Ohio, or Indiana.

The defeat of Mr. Speaker Grover's election is, we are sorry to say, admitted.
The Dismissal of Major John J. Key.
The following is published as the executive record in this case: "EXECUTIVE MANDATE.
Washington, September 26, 1862.
Major John J. Key is informed that, in answer to the question, 'Will you appear before me as Major Turner says, or as I remember it the conversation was: I asked the question why you did not bag them after the battle of Sharpsburg?' Major Key's reply was, that you do not get the game; that we should try the rebels out of the game; that that was the only way the Union could be preserved; we come together fraternally, and slavery be saved." On cross-examination Major Turner says he has frequently heard Major Key's conversation in regard to the present troubles, and never heard him utter a sentiment unfavorable to the maintenance of the Union. He has never uttered anything which he, Major T., would utter anything particular conversation detailed was a private one."
(Endorsed on the above.)
In my view, it is wholly inadmissible for any gentleman holding a military commission in the United States, to utter sentiments as Major Key is within proved to have done. Therefore, let Major John J. Key be forthwith dismissed from the military service of the United States."
L. COLCOCK.

This record is, of course, reliable so far as it goes, but we must hope, for Major Turner's sake, that it is incorrect. He has been in the left in a very unenviable position; if he really intended to be understood to say, that the declaration which he proved upon Major Key was nothing which he "would call distasteful."

RESISTANCE TO THE ENROLLMENT IN LEONARD COUNTY, PA.—The Carbonate Advance says: "We have melancholy news from Archbold. A death has resulted from a renewed effort to take the enrollment at that place. We published, two weeks since, an account of the manner in which the enrolling officer and four or five assistants had been driven from the town by a mob of about twenty men, who had gathered upon the ground with a large posse, unarmed, for the purpose of taking the enrollment peacefully. If they could, but with a company of militia in attendance, to execute the law, the six women were arrested for disturbing the peace, and sent to jail at Wilkesbarre. No serious difficulty, however, occurred until the officers were returning from their duty's business to the hotel. A riot then broke out, with these results: Patrick Gilmanin, killed; several others shot to death. His wife was badly wounded. Patrick Colegar, shot through the hand; Michael Carney, severely wounded with three balls, and John Coffey with two balls. Several other persons slightly wounded. None of the militia were hurt."

Hon. John R. Thompson, U. S. Senator from New Jersey, died at his residence, in Princeton, Saturday night.

A BATCH OF NEW RUMORS, ACCOMPANIED BY THE CONTRADICTIONS OF SEVERAL OLD ONES.
LOUISVILLE, October 16.—The Journal has a special dispatch from Frankfort saying that General Kirby Smith and his command have been captured between Lexington and Harrodsburg. There has been no news of this kind received at headquarters here, and the report is discarded.
The same paper says that Basil Duke, a brother in law of John Morgan, has been killed; that three hundred rebels came into Lexington this morning, and that our forces captured one hundred of them. The Journal's worth of news from Smith's command. All these reports need confirmation.
The guerrillas are committing all sorts of depredations in Owen county.
The Memphis Herald says the guerrillas beyond Raleigh have been burning all the cotton they can find.
A rebel officer, writing to Lexington, says the rebel Gen. Chalmers was killed near Perryville, Ky., and his command has been captured. Gen. Preston is also written that the rebels had about fifteen thousand engaged in the battle of Perryville. The papers of the 13th says, that the United States forces are concentrating in a large force at Fort Donelson, and were to clear that portion of Tennessee of rebels. Many of the rebel families at Clarksville were preparing to leave the State. The "rosewater policy" is to be abandoned.
The main body of our army, this evening, is near Grab Orchard. The rebels are in full retreat in two columns, moving towards Cumberland River.
The steamer John C. McComb will leave for Cairo to-night with 500 rebel prisoners en route for Vicksburg, and 500 more will leave to-morrow.
It is reported, but the statement is discredited, that the rebel Gen. Backus was severely wounded in an attack made by the rebels on Gen. Gilbert's force on the 8th inst.
The reported deaths of Gen. Bragg and Cheatham have not been confirmed.

Further of the Mobbery of the Steamer Hazel Dell.
The Rebels threaten to burn all boats that fall into their hands.
TWO VESSELS LAIDEN WITH ORDNANCE STORES BURNED.
CAIRO, Oct. 15.—The rebel force which robbed the steamer Hazel Dell yesterday at Caseyville, Ky., numbers two thousand, 15,000 worth of clothing, groceries and provisions taken. They threaten to burn all boats falling into their hands after the first of next month.
The transports Admiral and Philadelphia, laden with ordnance stores, were burned today at Columbus. The fire originated on the Admiral. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. While burning the steamer caught the Philadelphia. A thousand kegs of powder were taken from the Admiral, and the Confederates gathered several hundred shells from the Admiral, rearing her to pieces. Many houses in the town were struck. Gen. Dodge was slightly wounded by a fragment of a shell. The loss is estimated at $750,000.
The expedition which left here last night for Ballard county, Ky., has returned with five prisoners. They also captured a number of horses and mules.

Reports from Cairo.
CAIRO, Oct. 16.—Secretary Stanton has telegraphed to General Halleck to send no more contrabands into Illinois until further orders.
The divisions of Generals Rosecrans, Stanley, and Sedgwick have returned to Corinth, where they will be reorganized. General Hurlbut was removing from Bolivar to Jackson.
Four hundred prisoners were sent to Holly Springs yesterday for exchange.
A body of mounted rangers, supposed to number 500, were seen near Bolivar yesterday. A force has been sent after them.
A dispatch from Paducah to-day says the steamer Hazel Dell was stopped seven hours at Caseyville, Ky., by a large force of guerrillas. The mules, negroes, and quantities of goods were taken from her. Several officers and soldiers were also were taken prisoners.

The Gunboats Mahaska Fired into at Williamsport.
FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 15.—The United States gunboat Mahaska, from the blockade of Roads in North Carolina, came into the harbor this morning. She experienced very heavy weather, and lost one man overboard in leaving her anchor. She reports that just before sailing, the rebels opened fire from shore with some field pieces on the United States gunboat. One of the rebels was killed, the Mahaska immediately opened fire, but was too far off for execution, until the rebels retreated.

Commander Downs has been ordered to the Nahant.

Important Reconnoissance by General Hancock.
Charlottesville, Virginia, in Our Possession.
SEVERAL PRISONERS TAKEN.
HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Thursday evening, October 16, 1862.
An important reconnoissance was made today by a portion of the army of the Potomac, in the direction of Winchester. The division of General Hancock, late General Richardson's, left Harper's Ferry at an early hour this morning on the road to Charlottesville.

Three miles from Bolivar they came upon the enemy's outposts, who retired as our troops advanced, until within half mile of Charlottesville, where they formed in line of battle, with dismounted skirmishers thrown to the front. They having no infantry, covered the approaches to Charlottesville by two pieces of artillery on the right and three upon the left of the bridge, with the view of dispersing our troops by the position of the present General. A battery was soon brought up, and opened with shell and solid shot, which was promptly applied to by the Art. rebel pieces already in position.

The engagement, which was carried on wholly by artillery, continued two hours; when the rebel ranks broke, and retired beyond the town. One horse was killed and eight wounded. Captain Smith, of the Richmond artillery, and eight men were wounded and taken prisoners, which is the only loss it is known they have sustained.

The troops under Gen. Hancock entered Charlottesville at 12 o'clock, and occupied it until 1 o'clock, when they retired to the town. One horse was killed and eight wounded. Captain Smith, of the Richmond artillery, and eight men were wounded and taken prisoners, which is the only loss it is known they have sustained.

Action of the New York Banks.
New York, Oct. 16.—It was reported to-day that the banks refuse to lend money on gold, and that they have also raised the margin on stock securities twenty-five per cent. But this rumor is, at least, premature. No meeting has yet been held, and no such action is talked of on the subject, particularly as regards gold.

The Indian War.
MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14.—The St. Paul Pioneer, of the 12th, says dispatches received by Gen. Pope, from Gen. Sibley, report the Indian war, as far as the Sioux are concerned, about ended. The entire force of the lower bands surrendered to Gen. Sibley. He has probably two thousand prisoners. A cavalry force is in pursuit of Little Crow and others, who are making their way to the St. Lawrence river, and are expected to be captured by the 11th inst. It was unoccupied. Loss estimated at $20,000.

C., by Gen. Johnston's army, on the 22d of July, 1862. The field officers are as follows:
